The company's 2016 collection is comprised of 37 high-pressure laminates ranging from distressed-industrial to wood-grain looks. GREENGUARD certified for low VOCs, the covering is produced by laminating phenolic resin impregnated kraft paper sheets (the backer) to melamine resin impregnated decorative papers (the surface). These layers are then pressed and hardened under heat and trimmed, and their backside is sanded for installation. Available in 4-by-8-ft. sheets with a .034-in. thickness, the range is suitable for vertical use in interior spaces.
